DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement filed on 12/31/2001 has been considered by the Examiner.

It is noted that the application number has been crossed out since it has not been published.

Specification

3. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

4. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it uses legal phraseology. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

6. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a process of controlling a fuel cell comprising changing the amount of oxidizing gas to the fuel cell using a compressor, does not reasonably provide enablement for controlling a fuel cell comprising changing the amount of fuel gas to the fuel cell using compressor. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. It is noted that the drawings or the specification do not disclose a compressor controlling the fuel gas flow to the fuel cell or a pressure control valve provided downstream of the fuel cell controlling the fuel gas to the fuel cell.

7. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. In claim 2, the limitations "a flow amount feedback control step which controls the flow amount of the gas supplied into a fuel cell to be a prescribed value; and a pressure feedback control step which controls the pressure of the fuel cell to a prescribed value, and said feedback steps being stopped during the transition period of the fuel cell” do not appear to be enabled by the specification. It is unclear how the fuel cell would be controlled if the feedback steps are stopped during the transition period of the fuel cell and what the purpose of feedback would be if the load of the fuel cell does not undergo any variation (transition period).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

9. Claims 1, and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Merritt et al. (US 5,366,821).

See abstract; Figures 2-4; col. 8, lines 38-44; col. 9, line 24 to col. 10, line 27; col. 11, line 32 to col. 12, line 45 of the reference.

10. Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Scheffler et al. (US 6,393,354 B1).

See Figures 1 and 2; col. 3, lines 45-67; col. 4, lines 15-32; col. 5, line 12 to col. 6, line 5 of the reference.

11. Claims 1, and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by the JPO abstract for JP 61-080762 A.

See JPO abstract and Figure 1 of the reference.
